

LATAM group transported 6.2 million passengers in April with positive performance in affiliates' domestic markets

Operating statistics for April 2024

Santiago, May 9, 2024 - LATAM group reported its operational statistics for April 2024, a month during which it transported 6.2 million passengers, 13.8% more than the previous year. This result is explained by the positive domestic performance of the affiliates in Chile, Colombia, Ecuador and Peru, which transported 13.8% more passengers compared to 2023, as well as the affiliate in Brazil, which transported 9.5% more passengers.

On the other hand, passengers transported internationally increased 24.9% during the period, compared to the same month of 2023. In the first four months of the year, the group transported 26.5 million passengers in total.

During April, LATAM group increased its consolidated capacity, measured in available seat kilometers (ASK), by 16.8% compared to April 2023. While the capacity of the international segment grew by 21.0%, the domestic capacity of the affiliates in Chile, Colombia, Ecuador and Peru increased by 14.7% and the affiliate in Brazil by 11.6%, all compared to the same month of the previous year.

Consolidated passenger traffic, measured in revenue passenger kilometers (RPK), grew by 19.8% in April 2024, noting a double-digit increase both domestically and internationally.

As a result, the consolidated load factor in April reached 81.1%, which represents an increase of 2.0 percentage points compared to the same period of 2023. Notably, the load factor of the international segment increased 2.3 percentage points this month, which reached 83.9%.

Regarding its cargo operations, LATAM group increased capacity, measured in available ton kilometers (ATK), by 12.6% versus April 2023, reaching 661 million available ton-kilometers.

The following table summarizes the operating statistics for the month and the year to date figures as of April 2024 for the main LATAM business segments:
